Luttrell's Failure—Triumph of Contract and Finance—Dark Hints Concerning the Committee

NEW YORK June 9—All attempts to procure an investigation of the charges brought by Congressman Luttrell against the Central Pacific Railroad monopoly have resulted in failure although startling facts have been brought to the notice of the Committee and it is not strange the belief should prevail on the Pacific coast that its members have been influenced by arguments even more potent than Credit Mobilier shares—the Central Pacific Credit Mobilier which is called the Contract and Finance Company—having been a more profitable concern than the other and having fewer members to divide its gains. Under these circumstances, the men who have grabbed not only the Central Pacific Railroad but all the railroads and enormous tracts of land in California while they leave the tax payers of the whole country to pay interest on their bonds could well afford to pay handsomely for favorable action by Congress

Edgar Thompson's Successor.

NEW YORK, June 9—The first mortgage bond holders of the North Pacific railroad elected Wm B Ogden of Chicago in place of Edgar Thompson

HE COULDN'T HAVE SAID ANYTHING ELSE—An amusing story is told of the daughter of a well-known London Alderman who was recently taken to dinner by a judge who figured prominently in the Tichborne trial. The conversation turned on the young lady's usual place of residence which happened to be Highgate. "Don't you think Highgate pretty?" she asked. Unfortunately she was slightly uncertain in her aspirates. His lordship gave her one hurried glance of intense astonishment. "You get pretty!" he replied gallantly recovering his presence of mind. "No Miss—I think you were always pretty." However horrified at the compliment the young lady quite justified it by her profuse blushes.

GRIMALKIN IN THE SHROUDS—During the recent gales, says the Edinburg Scotsman, the schooner Eagle lay in Tobermory Harbor. In furling the mainsail a cat belonging to the vessel, without the knowledge of the sailors got rolled up and while the sail continued furled it could not escape from its confinement. For twenty three days the sail lay untouched and during that time poor puss was a close prisoner without food or drink and with only a very small quantity of air. When the sail was unfurled the cat dropped out in such a weakly state that it could not stand. The sailors nursed their favorite so carefully that in a day or two it was skipping about the vessel as if nothing had happened

On May 21st the trail of the hostile Indians was found going east and followed four days before any indication of the vicinity of the their rancheria was perceived. Lieut. King selected a suitable camp for his pack train and started on foot in search of the rancheria which was found the same night on the crest of a precipitous mesa about two miles east of Diamond Butte. The next morning an attack was made and four dead Indians lay on the ground. The Indians who escaped the soldiers bullets jumped over the bluffs and endeavored to make their way out through Little Canyon where four more were killed on the 7th. Another rancheria was discovered and the troops cautiously advanced to surprise it but their approach was unfortunately detected by the hostile Indians who fought flight leaving one dead man behind in their rancheria

BRITISH COLUMBIA

From Stikine.

VICTORIA, June 8—The steamer Idaho arrived here yesterday from Fort Wrangell with 20 passengers. No news of importance has yet come through from the mines although report says the California company have washed up over $3000 in four days and that the Moore company are doing well on Thibert creek. Freight from Fort Wrangell to Dease's Bar $80 per ton whilst passage money is $50. There are supposed to be about 1 600 men at the mines, very few remaining at Fort Wrangell or Buck's Bar. Nothing however can be definitely known concerning the prospects until the water which is now high goes down.

A dispatch from Kamloops announces the total destruction by fire on Thursday last of two storehouses of the Hudson Bay Company. A large number of furs and a quantity of flour was lost. Loss not known at present.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE MOUTH OF THE MISSISSIPPI—A Washington dispatch of June 5th says

The bill for the improvement of the mouth of the Mississippi with an amendment providing for the construction of Fort St Phillip Canal and its maintenance as a national highway passed the House—110 to 80

TAKING THEIR SHIRTS OFF

When Mr Benjamin F Butler offered a bill in the House of Representatives the other day to convert certain negroes into Choctaw Indians a Democratic member inquired in a timid sort of way whether the Government had any right to do what the General proposed. The Government, was the prompt and contemptuous reply, has a right to do what it pleases with anybody within its jurisdiction. The General Government if it chooses can take the shirt off your back

We feel very much obliged to General Butler for this frank and compact statement of the political principle of which he is such a conspicuous representative. It seems to us that the principle has been run in the Butler plan for some time but we have never before seen this theory of government so tersely and so clearly expressed. In the matter of the Custom House immagement for example it has been the habit of the Government to raise immense sums of money for electioneering purposes by mulcting importers in heavy penalties for technical violations of intricate and confusing laws. Half the fines thus obtained went into the Treasury and the other half was divided among certain revenue officers who were expected to give a large part of it to the political fund. And now that the outrage upon the mercantile community has been fully exposed now that the mischievous and demoralizing consequences of the system are shown so clearly that nobody presumes to question them the foremost members of the Administration faction in the Senate are working with the greatest industry and diligence to prevent any reform in the law. The Government has no doubt of its right to take the shirts off the merchants backs if it has any use for them

It is just the same with the Sanborn contracts. These scandalous bargains were carried out in such a way that the people were plundered of some hundreds of thousands of dollars in order to enrich one of Gen Butler's friends and the robberies would have amounted to millions if the newspapers had not found it out in good season. The contracts have been suspended and will probably be repealed but the Government holding that it has a right to do what it pleases with anybody within its jurisdiction and that the plundering was perfectly proper declines to censure the guilty officers or even to discharge them from the public service. Nay, Mr Sawyer impudently assures the Committee of Ways and Means that the conduct of the Treasury Department in the Sanborn business meets with his entire approbation and whatever he did in the matter himself he would do again if he had the chance. Mr Sawyer nevertheless retains the favor of the Administration

Then look at the Chase case. Here is a man who testifies before an investigating committee that the Board of Public Works has been swindling the public. The moment he comes off the witness stand the President takes him by the collar and bustles him out of office for speaking ill of those in authority. His statements happened to be true in the main. they were substantiated afterwards and they were made in answer to a summons—but what of that? The Government claims the right to take the shirt off the District of Columbia and it brooks neither interference nor criticism

May we venture to suggest to Congress that the people of the United States have certain prejudices on the subject of shirts and other personal property which cannot safely be disregarded much longer?—N Y Tribune

NOT AT ALL STRANGE—That eminently respectable and numerous body of religionists who call themselves Dunkers, or Dunkards will be a good deal astonished if not horrified to see the way the telegraph has libeled them in transmitting the reports of their convention at Girard Ill to the Eastern newspapers. Several journals published the report with the heading "A Drunkard's Convention" as the telegraph made it and the Boston Journal improved upon it in this way "A Novel Organization—National Convention of Drunkards"

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL—ITS EFFECT IN TENNESSEE—A dispatch from Nashville Tenn May 28th says John M Fleming, the State Superintendent of Public Schools issue a circular this morning wherein after reciting that the Civil Rights bill now pending in Congress in its provisions concerning public schools is in direct conflict with the law in Tennessee he suggests that no new contracts for teaching for either white or colored schools be entered into by the Directors and if the bill becomes law further instructions will be given

ARE WE TO HAVE HUXLEY—They are speculating in London whether President Eliot of Harvard College has not engaged Huxley to succeed Agassiz at Cambridge. His friends think he would come if the invitation was strong enough. The temptation to labor in the wider and more impressive field of America and the advantages of our drier climate for his health are among the supposed motives that would influence his favorable decision —Springfield Republican

CAPITAL INVESTED IN THE BREWING TRADE—A dispatch from Boston June 5 says. At the Brewers Convention to-day Clauser stated that the capital invested in breweries in the United States was $80,000 000 in malt-houses $17 000 000 in barley lands $41 000 000 in hop lands $1 500 000 making a total investment of $153 000 000. The amount of revenue paid to the Government in the last ten years by brewers is $62 250 000. The meeting fully organized electing H Clauser, of New York Honorary President

SUMNER'S BENEVOLENCE.—Mrs Wariner of Washington writes to the Independent a story a negro told her in a Washington street car. It seems they struck up an acquaintance impromptu and then he told her that Sumner privately paid his bills at school and let him learn to be a lawyer and also heard him recite every Sunday in the Greek Testament to enable him to learn how to teach a Sunday School class

ESCAPE OF CONVICTS—An Eastern dispatch of the 1st inst says. During a slight fire in the Pennsylvania State Lunatic Asylum on Saturday night the smoke filled the rooms and excited the patients four hundred in number who escaped through broken windows and opened doors. Twelve escaped from the grounds and six are at yet at large

JUDGE McCUNN'S LIBEL SUIT—A New York dispatch of June 4th says

The libel suit for $50 000 against Demas Barnes proprietor of the Brooklyn Argus by Judge McCunn was withdrawn. Barnes having caused his counsel to read in court a complete retraction of the libelous charges and promised to pay all costs of court

DUEL IN THE SOUTH—NEW ORLEANS May 30—A duel was fought on Metaire Ridge between two Creoles named A Guillotte and Pezeros. The weapons were pistols, distance ten paces fire at will and advance. Guillotte fired at the word of command shooting Pezeros through the side near the heart

THE TRANSIT OF VENUS—A Washington dispatch of May 30th says. The parties who are to make the observation of the transit of Venus at the stations in the southern hemisphere have been ordered to report at New York next Wednesday in readiness to sail on the Swatara for their stations

ROYAL RUMOR—It is now said that the Crown Prince of Holland will not marry the Princess Thyra of Denmark. It is rumored that the Grand Duke Alexis whose visit to New York is so fresh in all memories will marry Princess Beatrice of England

SALE OF A JOURNAL PROHIBITED—PARIS May 29—The Minister of the Interior has issued an order prohibiting the sale in Paris of Le XIXe Siecle (newspaper) because it is offensive to public morality

The London Times has secured a private telegraph wire between London and Paris at a cost of £5 000 a year

A man who never missed a meal or paid a cent, tried to fight his way to the table of the Bennett House at Salem over the dead body of the landlord last Monday but couldn't make it. The landlord was too much for him

Circus men going to Walla Walla should understand that they will have to pay $25 city license for each and every performance. Theatrical entertainments are charged at the rate of $10 a night. Impecunious managers will see that Walla Walla is not an inviting field

Some new mines have been discovered between the head of the Columbia lakes and the head of the Columbia and are attracting a good deal of attention. As yet there is not much known of either their extent or richness but it is believed they will prove to be good paying diggings. They are situated in British Columbia and are three or four hundred miles from Walla Walla

A vast amount of prospecting is being done on the tributaries of the Yakima. The gold field is by no means confined to the Swauk. Good prospects have been found on the bars of the Yakima above the mouth of that stream. The farmers however were not able to comply with the new law that went into effect in April which requires every claimant to represent his claim three days in every week. Some sold their claims for just what they could get but the major part were jumped

Tommy Pierre the half breed who a few weeks ago stabbed and killed another man at old Fort Colville, and then made his escape, has been captured in the Kootenai country in British Columbia. It seems that after the killing he made his way on foot and traveled about two hundred miles in four days. An Indian runner was sent over and informed the constable of that place who took Pierre in charge. The prisoner objected to being taken on British soil for a violation of law committed in the United States. But the official made the arrest and locked him up and still holds him for extradition. The necessary papers were brought down by expressman Keogh and forwarded to the authorities at Victoria and Olympia and will in due time be returned we presume with the instructions to bring the prisoner back to Colville. The British Columbia authorities, however propose having all bills and expenses settled before delivering up the prisoner in order that they may not have a repetition of the trouble occasioned by the cost bill in the extradition of Kanaka Joe the San Juan murderer

THE CALIFORNIA STYLE.—We take the following from the S F Chronicle

There is a slight misunderstanding existing just now between the editors of the Patriot and Mercury. In his issue of Wednesday last the editor of the Patriot casts a delicate innuendo at his rival in these words

"A particle of refinement delicacy respect benevolence or Christianity has never found a place in Owen's bosom. He is as utterly devoid of everything but that which is base gross and brutish as a Berkshire sow is of the divine afflatus

And this from the S F Stock Reporter

We generally get up sentences that most people understand. When we frame such a sentence, however we do not at the same time take a contract to supply the Stock Reporter and its coadjutors with the brains to understand that sentence or anything else—Grass Valley Union

Brains are not among the exports of Grass Valley the home demand being more than equal to the supply which is of a remarkably poor quality

A GRAVE BLUNDER—A London dispatch of June 1 credits the London Post with the following. An unfortunate mistake was committed at the civic reception in honor of the Czar which led to somewhat painful results. When the corps diplomatique sought their appointed places at the banquet in the council chamber of Ministers Plenipotentiary they were informed that they had no right to be in that chamber and on remonstrating some intemperate officials threatened them even with expulsion. In consequence the representatives of several important nations quitted the the banquet. Although explanations were offered while they were waiting for the carriages they felt too much hurt to return to a scene where they had met with humiliation. For some others places had been vacated by English court functionaries and this civility alone saved the banquet from being boycotted by the Ministers en masse.

A GENEROUS ACT—A Washington correspondent of the Tribune under date of May 6th after writing of the funeral of the late Mr Mellish Representative from the Ninth District of New York says. It is well known that Mr Mellish died in very poor circumstances, leaving his family without the means of support. His condition was made known in the House to-day in a quiet manner and a subscription was started among the members merely as a means of testifying their personal regard to the deceased. Judge Hoar of Massachusetts started the proposition and it was soon arranged that each member should not contribute more than $25. Speaker Blaine's name led the list followed by the Massachusetts delegation and the members from New England each giving the same required. No objections were made in any quarter and the whole 300 members will contribute to the fund which will probably reach $7,500

No cause is assigned other than the man had been drinking and at the time was laboring under the effects of an over dose of tangle foot

A man got drunk at Milton Umatilla county on election day and thinking to sleep himself sober selected for his couch a field in which some teamsters had been camping. The coals of the camp fire were still alive and on this bed of fire the drunk reposed his whisky soaked bones and in a short time was snoring at the rate of ten knots an hour. The fire was equally industrious, for in a few minutes the clothing of the drunk was in a blaze. Some parties who happened to be passing by went to his rescue and succeeded in extinguishing the fire but not before the individual was severely burned. He proposes in the future to exercise more judgment in selecting his sleeping apartments

REPORT OF THE DISTRICT INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE—A Washington special of June 5th says it is reported to night that all but one of the District Investigating Committee are agreed to lay to report recommending the abolition of the District government finding the Board of Public Works guilty of extravagance recklessness, and even general corruption in the management of the improvements here. The Committee has decided to recommend a temporary government till the next session of Congress. A strong influence is at work representing the Administration it is understood to prevent any report which will prohibit any member of the present local government from being eligible to the new one. Such a censure as that they declare would reflect directly on the President

COLFAX ON DECORATION—From a South Bend telegram giving an account of the observance of Decoration Day in that city, we take the following

Hon Schuyler Colfax being called on made a few remarks. His principal point was on the subject that is now gaining friends in certain high quarters which is to make no distinction between Union and rebel soldiers graves in strewing flowers on this day. The speaker is opposed to this—to abolishing all distinction and says "I am willing to forgive and to forget their acts of the past but when it comes to strewing their graves with flowers the same as our own comrades then I am opposed to it"

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 10 1874

THE PACIFIC COAST SHIP YARD

We had just closed the perusal of a pamphlet entitled "The Delaware vs The Clyde," which the [illegible] of the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters was laid upon our desk. "The Delaware vs The Clyde" is a well considered presentation of facts and figures to prove that, unless the Government shall adopt some measure for the revival of the ship building interests of the country, the Pacific ocean will ere long be under the dominion of English merchantmen as completely as the Atlantic. The history of the merchant marine of the United States is traced from 1820 when it was comparatively in its infancy down to 1862 when, by a constant and rapid increase of American tonnage, we did our share of the carrying business of the world. Then followed the war and the almost annihilation of our shipping. And now the war has been over nearly ten years and still we are doing next to none of our own carrying. The products of our fields and of our manufactures which are exported, go away in foreign bottoms, and the freight earnings which are almost equal in amount to the price of production go to enrich foreign nations. So that our exports inadequate at best to keep the account of our imports nearly balanced, are taxed to pay other nations for coming to our doors to carry them away. This is a bad showing for our commerce, and it is urged that the state of affairs will grow worse instead of better, unless the Government interpose in some way to revive the interest of the country in shipbuilding.

And then come the San Francisco Underwriters and put in a special plea for ship-building on the Pacific, and making a showing decidedly more to the disadvantage of this coast than the other pamphlet presents against the entire nation. It appears that in in 1873 the total amount of freights earned on the grain carried from San Francisco was $9,374,135, of which only $200,919 was earned by Pacific coast vessels. And on inward bound freight, exclusive of coasters and steamers, the earnings were $4,031,959, of which Pacific coast vessels received only $436 113.

It is plain to be seen whither all this figuring leads. The profits of carrying by sail are large. It is asserted, and backed up with statistics that certainly appear to be unimpeachable that the building of large ships is an investment sure to return 2½ per cent per month, not counting the cost of building the ships on Puget Sound. At various other points along the coast from San Francisco to an indefinite distance north there are magnificent resources of timber and all other natural facilities for ship building.

Money is now reported to be more plentiful in California than ever before since the settlement of the State. Profitable investments are sought after now, whereas heretofore there has not been sufficient money in the country to supply the demands created by known opportunities to make paying investments. Upon these facts it is plain that the field for this surplus capital is along this northern coast, and in the business of ship building. Mr Seward said the Puget Sound was destined some day to be the site of the navy yards of the world. It is to be hoped the efforts of the San Francisco Underwriters to attract the attention of capitalists to this subject may result in the inauguration of the work of bringing to Mr Seward's prediction an early realization. And when enterprise of this character shall be once begun it is certain that the Columbia river will be found an excellent field for its development and that this entire northern coast will reap immense profits from it.

THE DIRECT LINE OF SHIPS

Now that the excitement of the election is over, and the public mind is allowed to pursue again its wonted channels of thought, it is to be hoped attention will be directed to the immediate wants of the community and the opportunities that are presented to satisfy them. One of the first, most pressing necessities of our situation is a line of sailing vessels between this city and Liverpool, sufficient to carry away a large portion, at least, of our annual wheat crop. Our shippers have heretofore been compelled to rely upon casual charters, and have thus suffered great inconvenience, and doubtless been sometimes forced to pay higher rates than they would had there been sufficient tonnage plying regularly to this port.

Mr William Reid, of Dundee, Scotland is now in this State, especially looking after such enterprises as offer a good and safe investment of money and which will at the same time contribute to the building up of the country. He commands large capital and is ready, we are told, to embark it with our people in the establishment of a line of ships such as we have mentioned above. But he thinks and very reasonably too that the people of Oregon themselves should take an amount of the stock in the enterprise sufficient to enlist and retain their interest and sympathy with it when it should be in operation. This seems to be an opportunity which ought not to be allowed to pass unimproved. At all events it should be carefully considered with a view to taking hold of the project [illegible] factory terms can be obtained. The farmers of the Willamette valley who are the parties most deeply interested in the establishment of this line [illegible] could well afford to take a large amount of the stock.

THAT INVESTIGATION

The Ring paper says the Secretary of the Treasury—[illegible] retired—made a thorough investigation of the charges against W L Higgins in connection with his Credit Mobilier operations on the Custom House building, and found those charges wholly groundless. What sort of an investigation could he have made at Washington without a witness present and with no knowledge of the case [illegible] from some [illegible] in Oregon who might happen to be at the Capital? Did he call Starr and ascertain from him the details of the transactions of which he made affidavit upon personal knowledge? No. Did he call upon Mr S M Lyon or S D Smith, or Capt Richard White, to inquire of them whether it was true that parts of the time for which the Government was charged by Higgins was actually put at work on their houses respectively, and not on the Custom House? No. Did he examine competent mechanics to ascertain whether or not it was possible to put as many days work on that Custom House dome as were charged for by Higgins? No. The truth is, he made no investigation at all. The pretense of investigation was a sham and a fraud and the object of it was simply to whitewash an unworthy officer. No wonder the new Secretary, Bristow, refuses to sit in the same boat with Richardson's crowd.

A BULLETIN CORRESPONDENT TELLS SOME MORE LIES

We had hoped though we cannot now state upon what grounds, that after the election we should be less frequently called upon to expose the falsehoods of the organ of the repudiated ring. It seems however, that in this we miscalculated. In yesterday's edition of that paper there appears a communication—or what purports to be a communication—dated from McMinnville in Yamhill county which for downright falsifying is equal to anything we have yet seen. The writer of the "communication" says

> Our Postmaster Dr Johnson who has always before voted the Republican ticket got mad at the Temperance Reformers and went over to the Grover Independents. A few days before election he went down to Portland and came back with a lot of tickets which he circulated pretty liberally all around here and said they were the regular tickets the Republicans of Portland intended to vote. He intimated that he got them from the Bulletin office. These tickets were headed with Dick Williams for Congress. Grover's name was on for Governor, and all the rest of the ticket was Republican. * * * * *
> Some of us didn't believe him when he told us the ticket he brought was the one you Republicans in Portland were going to vote. But Tilmon Ford, who was running for Prosecuting Attorney on the Independent ticket, came over from Salem, and he showed letters that he said were from you and had to them the names of Scott and Dolph and Caples with others which protested to say to Republican voters that they ought to vote for Grover for Governor and for the Republican candidates for all the other offices on the ticket. What he said agreed with what Doc Johnson said and he told everybody that the Republicans in Marion and Polk counties intended to do the same thing. All of them he said were going to vote for Grover for Governor.
> Still some didn't believe it for Ford is a Democrat. But Saturday before the election, Lair Hill and Ball the lawyer came up here from Portland and they had some of the same kind of tickets Republican all but Grover and they both said that that was the regular Republican ticket as it was printed for your county in the Bulletin office. A considerable number of our people believed them, for they couldn't think that men would say such a thing unless it was so. This is how the county came to give so few votes for Tolman, and so much majority for Grover. If the voters hadn't been deceived and humbugged by Doc Johnson and Tilmon Ford this county would have given Tolman a good majority.

This story, so far as it relates to Lair Hill and Ball, the lawyer, is an unmitigated falsehood, without so much as a thread of truth woven into it. The two individuals mentioned were not at McMinnville on Saturday before the election. (That mistake of date gives force to suspicion created by the style of the article in question that nobody in Yamhill county wrote it.) They spoke at McMinnville Thursday night and they did not have, nor see any tickets of any kind, and nobody in McMinnville spoke about tickets. The whole thing is a falsehood conjured up from the brain of the—beg pardon for almost saying it.

It is a rule of law and of common sense, that a person proven to have told a falsehood in one part of his testimony is to be presumed false in the rest. Upon this rule as well as upon the intrinsic improbability of the truth of what is said of Dr Johnson and Tilmon Ford we feel safe in asserting that that is as false as what is said of Mr Ball and ourself. The whole is a falsehood made of whole cloth. It is of a piece with the forgery of a resolution and the publication of it through the Bulletin which all remember to have occurred recently, and which after some days was proved home on that paper, when it inserted a whining retraction in the most obscure part of its columns. That sort of journalism is characteristic of the Bulletin, and it is idle to hope for its reformation. When the excitement of a political campaign is not present to tempt to falsehood some other temptation will be devised.

STILL CAMPAIGNING

The Bulletin is engaged in the publication of a series of articles that were left over at the end of the late campaign. At least, that is the reasonable inference from the style of matter which fill a large part of its editorial columns. Yesterday morning it contained a [illegible] labored effort to vindicate Mr Richard Williams—whilom ring Republican candidate—or rather candidate on the Ring Republican ticket—for Congress against the charge of being an [illegible] and wavering upon the vital question whether we are to have a depreciated paper currency or hard money. The burden of the Bulletin's plea for Mr Williams [illegible] uncertain which side to take on the question is rather a mark of intelligent and sensible minds than otherwise. [illegible] On [illegible] would naturally say that [illegible] which [illegible] the people of the [illegible] states so readily and upon which there is no party or faction standing astride the fence is exactly such a matter as any one should be [illegible] decided [illegible]. The Bulletin [illegible] constitute [illegible] for objection to the position [illegible] by Mr Williams but none [illegible] justification. On [illegible] to [illegible] that the [illegible] argument in favor of [illegible] really intended is left [illegible] between his [illegible] and this [illegible] when the Bulletin [illegible] especially of the fact that the people of Oregon have a well defined opinion on this important question. It appears that [illegible] stood alone in his position of don't-know-which-side-to-take and that the Bulletin is extremely anxious [illegible] that fact before [illegible]. [illegible] no importance now whether Williams has any opinion on the subject of the currency or not. He will not be called upon to vote on the question for some time. [illegible] Dow's opinions are of greater moment just at this juncture.

Last week after the election the Bulletin somewhat tilted into the ranks of the Independents. Our readers had had an opportunity of doing so [illegible] extracts which we published from the editorial columns of the Bulletin how completely it turned about and took the back track. But we had no idea of the trouble the Bulletin was getting itself into. In yesterday's issue there was an entire column devoted to the endeavor to get back on the old ring ground. It has proved more difficult to retrace the one step it made in the right direction than it was to jump the ring track. We are sorry to see our neighbor in such tribulation and if this passing notice shall assist in any measure to bring the Bulletin around right again we shall [illegible] amply repaid for the small inconvenience of penning it.

CORRESPONDENCE.

PORTLAND, June [illegible]

MRS FANNY MORGAN PHELPS

Madam—We the undersigned residents of Portland and vicinity take leave to express to you our thorough appreciation of your endeavors to provide this locality with a superior class of Dramatic performances and at the same time our sincere regret that in consequence of various local circumstances your efforts have not met with the encouragement they deserved. As a mark of our sympathy and respect we therefore beg to say that it would afford us much pleasure to offer you a Complimentary Benefit on any evening that you may be pleased to appoint.

REPLY

To Messrs Henry L Cate, K Macleay, N [illegible] King, D W Burnside and others:

Gentlemen—Your kind communication has just reached me. I have had but so short a time that I could not prepare to receive this special mark of your appreciation. It is such delicate acts as this of yours that tend to lighten the path of the Artiste. I feel infinite pride in receiving such compliments gratifying as they are, I accept the same and will name next Friday Evening June 12th for the occasion.

CITY.

A BOLD ROBBERY.—About one week ago two men styling themselves W H Smith and Charles Johnson came from Victoria and took lodgings at the Globe Hotel Yesterday morning Smith made complaint to the landlord, and subsequently to the Chief of Police that he had been robbed during Monday night. When the landlord went to wake Smith up, he found his bedroom door ajar when it should have been closed and locked Smith feigned great surprise at this circumstance, and on examining his trowsers pockets he declared that some person had stolen a sum of money from him A strong twine string was found tied to one of the pants legs which were under Smith's head This string led across the bed out at the window along the wall through another window out on the roof of a shed and down to the ground in the back yard. It at once struck the landlord that Smith's story and also the twine ruse were "too thin" and the two combined turned suspicions towards him About this time another man who was stopping at the same hotel named Leonard Kuranten made complaints that he had also lost considerable money during the night. Kuranten claimed that during Monday night his bedroom was invaded by some person or persons and that six twenty dollar gold pieces, five ten dollar pieces and a small sum in silver had been abstracted from his pockets. There being several suspicious circumstances pointing towards Smith he was arrested, and also his friend and associate Johnson When Smith was examined his pockets were found to contain eight twenties five tens, and a small amount of silver It may be that Smith and Johnson are innocent and that they are victims of a conspiracy; but appearances indicate strongly that they are guilty Smith's haste to declare that he was robbed, and the twine string tied to his trowsers in the manner above mentioned all no doubt, intended to divert suspicion from the right parties gives a coloring of guilt, and proves a swift witness against him However we may be incorrect, and cheerfully give the parties the benefit of every doubt They are both in jail and the case will come up for examination in the Police Court this morning

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.—About two weeks ago we gave the particulars of a shooting affair which took place down the Columbia between a colored man named Jack and a white man calling himself Ned Brown Brown was shot in the face the ball taking effect near the left corner of the mouth and ranging back and downward passed out at one side of the neck. The wound although of a serious character did not prove fatal, and at last accounts Brown was in a fair way to recover Jack was taken into custody on a charge of assault with intent to kill and held to answer And now comes the evening contemporary and says News reaches us that Jack has himself been mysteriously murdered and we give the particulars, which is all that we know concerning the tragedy Last Saturday as usual Jack went out to make a drift in company with a man who pulled the boat The time for their return arrived and yet they did not come Search was instituted and after an extended tour the boat was found with the dead body of Jack lying in the bottom The man who went with him was nowhere to be found and suspicions were aroused that he murdered the negro and was fleeing from punishment The remains were taken in charge by an official but up to the latest hour no examination had been held "

GONE TO SEA.—In consequence of the disablement of the steamer Ajax while on the way to this city in the Wallamet river by getting her propeller fouled in a log that vessel did not leave Astoria until yesterday morning. On arriving at Astoria last Friday morning, the bar was too rough for the Ajax to attempt to cross in her disabled condition Two or three wings of the propeller were partially broken at the time of the accident, and it was not considered prudent to venture to sea during rough weather The bar continuing boisterous, the Ajax remained at Astoria until yesterday when she crossed over and passed out to sea. Before leaving this port all the sails and most of the spars belonging to the Guane Telfair were taken on board the Ajax In the event that the disabled steamer could not use her machinery she is abundantly provided with all necessary rigging, and can easily reach her destination by sailing. Arriving at San Francisco the Ajax will be placed in the dry dock and a new propeller attached.

FOR ASSAULT.—Yesterday a man named Manuel, a Portuguese by birth who resides over on the Columbia Slough, came to the city to procure the arrest of a young man named Marion Switzler Some dispute it appears arose between the Portuguese and young Switzler culminating in the latter individual dealing his antagonist a heavy blow on the side of the face, inflicting severe injury Manuel on arriving in the city immediately swore out a warrant for the arrest of Switzler who was soon taken into custody, and held to answer the charge of assault and battery

ARRIVED.—The bark Portland from San Francisco arrived here early yesterday morning with about 700 tons of assorted cargo She had a fair passage up the coast leaving San Francisco on the 30th ult and arriving off the bar on the 6th inst While sailing under a full press of canvas the day before reaching the bar the topmast suddenly gave way and had to be lowered No other damage resulted and the vessel proceeded on her voyage without detention Before leaving here a new mast will replace the old one

THE SEASIDE.—Mr Chas Dexter is in the city looking after business connected with the above house Mr Dexter has not [illegible] since the close of last season [illegible] changes have been very [illegible] vegetables and everything [illegible] will find the desired articles [illegible] those visiting the Dexter this season [illegible] assured they will be made perfectly [illegible] Note the card

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.—This evening commencing at 8 o clock the installation ceremonies of the Grand Officers elect of the Grand Lodge of Oregon will take place in Masonic Temple The ceremonies will be public, and all are cordially invited to be present and witness them

VESSELS ARRIVED.—The bark Architect and the brig Perpetua arrived at Astoria on Monday from San Francisco These vessels came in ballast Both are now lying at Cathlamet and will load with lumber for California This is the first trip which the Architect has made to these waters She is an old vessel and has been running on the line between San Francisco and Humboldt for the last ten years

MUSICAL PROGRAMME.—The following programme will be discoursed at the plaza on Saturday evening 13th inst by the City Band Grand March—American Medley—Gotz Serenade Air Theresa Waltz Faust Aria from Falstaff—Balfe Rosalind Mazourka (dedicated to Neilson) Broedecker Pruder Listig, Galop Faust

IN THE RIVER.—The bark Forward reported in the river and will doubtless arrive here early this morning She comes direct from Hongkong and has a large number of passengers and a full cargo of Chinese merchandise

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court will convene at the Court House to-day at 10 o clock P M for the transaction of such business as may come before it

GRAND MASTER'S ADDRESS

The following report was next read

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge in Session Your committee to whom was referred the Grand Master's Address respectfully report

That they have read with more than ordinary interest the very able and exhaustive address of our most worthy and efficient Grand Master The great responsibility of the position he occupies has evidently been duly considered by him The various subjects of the address is approached with a delicacy that is commendable and treated with a sincerity that commands admiration We recommend its careful perusal to every Mason under the jurisdiction

That portion of the address referring to new Lodges and dispensations your committee recommend that it be referred to the Committee on Charters and Dispensations

That portion on official decisions to the Committee on Jurisprudence

That portion on Educational Fund to a Select Committee of Past Grand Masters This subject is one of more than ordinary importance The Grand Lodge has been accumulating this fund during the last 25 years by solemn act of the Grand Lodge The fund was dedicated solely to educational purposes. The object aimed for 25 years should not be turned aside without due deliberation and argument unanswerable

That portion of the address in reference to dispensation we recommend to the Committee on Grievances.

That portion in reference to reprinting Grand Lodge proceedings to the Committee on Printing.

That portion in reference to the revision of the Constitution to the Committee on Jurisdiction

That portion in reference to Masonic Code to a special committee of three

That portion in reference to Masonic History to a special committee of three and that portion in reference to the Grand Lodge library be also referred to a special committee of three.

A GEM (?)

A precious stone lay unobserved
Its worth could not be roughly guessed
Unseen the notice it deserved
Because it was not neatly dressed

A man in tattered garments clothed
With kindest heart within his breast
By ignorance and pride is loathed
Because he is not well dressed

Then gentlemen a warning take
By such examples here expressed
And hurry ere it be too late
To JOSEPH KOHN'S and get well dressed

It is dressing that makes the man and the man beautiful as well as the cost is so very trifling every one should post him up in a suit of our elegant cloth [illegible]

BRONCHITIS.

This is an irritation or inflammation of the bronchial tubes which carry the air we breathe into the lungs It arises from a cold settled in the throat from Catarrh extending to these parts from scrofulous affections and from severe use of the voice The irritation from this latter cause commences in the [illegible] which are the organs of the voice and extending, however, produces hoarse ness coughing and spitting mucous matter sometimes mixed with blood It is chiefly dangerous from its tendency to spread into the lungs and terminate in consumption It is in the severe and obstinate cases of this disease that Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has achieved unparalleled success and won the loudest praise from all who have used it

A DEBT OF GRATITUDE

Mrs Mary Tift of Elk Point Dakota Territory called at the World's Dispensary August 19 1873 to acknowledge a debt of gratitude due Dr Pierce, having been entirely cured of Catarrh complicated with Throat Disease by the use of Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Amid the existing excitement attending the election do not forget that you need a new outfit for the summer There never was a better opportunity offered those in want of anything to invest than at the present time Beck & Waldman the pioneer clothiers are awake to the necessities of the hour and now offer to buyers an entire suit of clothing at less cost than can be found elsewhere Their stock [illegible] and as for quantity [illegible] can boast of having more in store

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN THE SOUTH

[From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser May 27]

The Arkansas politicians have sent a delegation to Congress When will the Southern Republicans appreciate the fact that they can no longer run to Washington with the story of their grievances and ask for Federal aid in settling their private quarrels? Close upon the end of the war, when the South was in a condition of political and civil chaos, when hundreds of thousands of freedmen were without adequate protection when loyal men were surrounded by those who had raised their hands against the Government and when obedience to Federal law was exacted from those who hated the Union—at such a crisis Congress felt obliged to strain its constitutional prerogatives to make a virtue of necessity and to so shape legislation that the war for the preservation of the nation would not prove a total failure In the pursuance of this policy Congress was compelled to side with those who were loyal to the Government and in favor of rendering equal and exact justice to all men both before the law and at the ballot box The loyal people of the country recognized the peculiarity of the crisis They saw that the policy pursued must meet the emergency even though it trespassed upon constitutional limits but it was hoped [illegible] that the necessity for extraordinary special legislation would soon pass away and that ere long matters might return to their normal condition

In due time the Southern States were all re-admitted ample constitutional provisions were made for the freedmen's enjoyment of the rights of citizenship and needed safeguards were taken to prevent the demolition of the structure which had demanded the sacrifice of so much life and treasure in its erection From that hour the Southern States stood once more upon the same plane with the other members of the Union It was not the object of Congressional legislation to give the Southern Republican party a perpetual lease of power But yet such a misapprehension seems to have arisen in some quarters in reference to the reconstruction policy. If the Southern politicians are defeated at the ballot-box they pack up their carpet-bags and start for Washington They are too often represented in Congress by men of their own kidney, and it is deliberately proposed that that body shall waste the public time and commit acts of gross partisanship to elevate men whom their fellow citizens have rejected!

Now there has been too much of this nonsense The way to check it effectually is for Congress flatly and unequivocally to let the Southern Republicans understand that they must settle their private grievances as they best can They must learn furthermore that unless they show themselves worthy of public confidence they must ere long be remanded to positions in obscurity or disgrace In many of the Southern States the conduct of the Republican leaders is anything but honorable Unscrupulous venal and litigious, they seem to have no idea of government beyond an illegal acquisition or retention of power and systematic plunder of the people The Southern Republican party must get rid of such men Such scandals as have been witnessed in Louisiana Arkansas and South Carolina must not be repeated Among the unintelligent colored voters, many of the men in power keep their influence by representing that they are backed up at Washington This misrepresentation can easily be made clear to the comprehension of even the dullest freedman The Southern delegations" that are hanging around Washington must be made to feel that their game is up, that they must henceforth take care of themselves There is no reason why the Republican party of the South should not command the respect and secure the co-operation of the best men of both races It will do so as soon as it rids itself of a set of pestilent rascals who do not deserve decent treatment in any honest community The time must soon come when there will be no room among Southern Republicans for such men as Pinchback Kellogg Baxter, Clayton, Moses and a crowd of other just such precious specimens of political depravity

A HINDOO TEMPLE IN THE JAT J[illegible].—A correspondent of a Mofussil paper states that there is a temple to the Goddess Lla[illegible], about a mile distant from the town of Jat in the Jat Jabagir An annual fair is held in honor of this idol, at which about 10 000 people assemble. It has been held there for the last fourteen or fifteen years Fifteen years ago a mali, or gardener, set up the idol and began to cheat the people by stating that it had appeared there of its own accord Both men and women visit the temple and worship the idol The very strange fact regarding this worship is, says the writer, that the worshipers, before commencing the worship, strip naked apply powdered sandalwood to their whole bodies, put on the ornaments they may have hold a small branch of the nimb tree in their folded hands, and leave their place of residence to visit the idol After visiting the idol they go round the temple for a certain number of times They then leave the temple to bathe in a neighboring tank After bathing they return to the temple, worship the idol and return home The writer wishes that this indecency should be put down He states that when the Hon Mr Chapman, the present Chief Secretary to Government was collector of Sattara, he punished some of the naked worshipers

A COLORED PREACHER BADLY DECEIVED.—The Police Station in Augusta, Ga was visited on Tuesday by a colored preacher who told a tale of woe, which the Constitutionalist condenses as follows 'A colored brother had enticed him last Tuesday night into a false hunt for a trunk of money, which he said was buried in a certain spot beyond the Augusta Factory This brother told him that he must leave behind everything of value—clothing, watch, money, &c,—as luck would desert them otherwise. Each stripped off and proceeded in a circle in opposite directions toward a bush Hollyman the preacher arriving at the spot indicated, waited some time for his comrade who did not come to time He therefore decided that not finding the treasure he would return to the starting point But there he was in a quandary again He found that his colored (stranger) brother had absconded with all the clothing belonging to both carrying off also $65 and a gold watch belonging to the preacher Hollyman after considering for awhile, thought it best to make for his boarding house, which was in the New Territory some distance off He at last reached it and procured another suit, and then set forth to fill an appointment

UNDER THE SHADOW OF THE PYRAMIDS.—Nothing could be lovelier than the intensely green wheat lands, stretching away to the Libyan Desert, bounded on the south with thick fringes of palm The wind blowing over them came to us sweet with the odor of white clover blossoms larks sang in the air snowy ibises stood pensively on the edges of sparkling pools and here and there a boy sang some shrill monotonous Arab song In the east the citadel mosque stretched its two minarets like taper fingers averting the evil eye, and in front of us the Pyramids seemed to mock all the later power of the world Not forty, but sixty centuries look down upon us from these changeless peaks They antedate all other human records except those of the dynasty immediately preceding that which built them Hebrew Sanscrit, and Chinese history seem half modern when one stands at the foot of piles which were almost as old as the Coliseum is now when Abraham was born Bayard Taylor's Letter to N Y Tribune

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY.—During the recent debate in the Austrian Reichsrath on the Landwehr, the Minister of National Defense gave some interesting information relative to the Austrian army as compared with other European armies In Germany the strength of the army depends on the numbers of the population, being fixed at one per cent The population of Germany being 41,000 000 the army establishment (exclusive of officers and military departments) is 401 6[illegible] The cost is 225 thalers per head or 90 [illegible] 225 thalers in all besides which 15 000 000 thalers are demanded for extra expenses In France if the military force were also based on a percentage it would amount to 380 000 men which at 225 thalers a head would be 325 000 000 The actual force however is 4[illegible] and it costs [illegible] 509 225. In Austro Hungary the army would on the German system consist of 354 000 men at a cost of 119 [illegible] 000 florins whereas the actual force is only 2[illegible] costing [illegible] florins

LEGISLATIVE AID TO THE MILL RIVER VALLEY.—A dispatch from Boston May 28 says the Special Committee of the Legislature on the Mill River Valley disaster have reported in the House a bill providing for the payment of $120 000 to aid in the reconstruction of the highways destroyed by the flood $100 000 to go to Williamsburg and $20 000 to Leeds

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco [illegible] for average California and [illegible] for club

Our local money market [illegible] large transactions and [illegible] without important decline [illegible] demand for loans [illegible] ready to move is inducing holders of money to keep their means well in hand or at most on short call so that when the requirements set in they will be amply prepared for it Otherwise the matters seem to be moving forward without any embarrassment and in volume quite up to the average [illegible]

From San Francisco we have advices of a liberal supply of money The Herald of that city says that market is actually glutted so much so that rates of interest have been compelled to decline although vigorous efforts were made to maintain them at the standard existing for a long time past Savings banks are loaning freely at 8 per cent but deposits more than counterbalance the outlays and their treasuries are literally running over with funds that the owners scarcely know how to employ Commercial bank [illegible] paper at 1 per cent per month Reports from our State at large corroborate the hope of an unusual crop of cereals which will command the services of much money to garner and market It is a most providential circumstance that such abundant supplies of funds should exist at a time when they will be so much required

The telegraph reports that Mr Hurlbut a member of the House of Representatives is trying to restore the Income Tax The proposition is raising a storm about the ears of Congressmen which they will be most likely to heed and if the voice of this nation is to have any significance in the Halls of Congress the proposed restoration will be rejected with promptitude but if it is to be of no account and the representatives of the American people are determined to be their masters instead of their servants we may probably be compelled to swallow another dose of Income Tax It must needs be that offences come but woe to the man from whom the offence cometh

The changes made in the tariff are communicated by the wires and are about as follows A tax of one half of one per cent. has been imposed on all sales of stocks gold and silver bullion and other securities Duties on the following specified articles are changed so as to be on spun silk silk in the green and floss silk 35 per cent ad valorem sewing silk 40 per cent ad valorem lasting mohair cloth silk twist, and foreign buttons 10 per cent ad valorem other silks irrespective of classification 60 per cent ad valorem Put this is not apply to articles containing 25 per cent or more of cotton flax wool or worsted All still wines imported in casks must pay 50 cents the gallon Still wines imported in bottles to pay $2 the case Imported wines containing more than 24 per cent of alcohol to be forfeited An allowance of 2 per cent is accorded for leakage

Ship Building on Puget Sound.

The San Francisco Board of Underwriters have recently published a pamphlet on the above subject The author is C T Hopkins Esq, an eminently practical and intelligent gentleman who has for some years manifested a deep interest in it. In 1867 he visited Puget Sound and on returning to San Francisco reported to the Underwriters the wonderful resources and facilities of this region for the construction of vessels

From the pamphlet we quote as follows with the remark that Oregon possesses in a great measure all the advantages claimed for Puget Sound:

Nearly twenty years ago the first Puget Sound lumber was landed at Mare Island navy yard then in charge of Commodore Farragut. He was much struck with its magnificent size and length and freedom from defects which cause so great waste in the oak and pine of the East He therefore instituted a series of experiments to test its strength in comparison with oak and Georgia pine We have never been able to see the Commodore's report of these experiments but they are said to have satisfied him of the superiority of our red and yellow fir to either of the others Shortly after these tests were made he remarked to George W Prescott, of San Francisco that the question of the strength of this timber was forever settled that of its durability alone remained to be tested. The varied and abundant experience of all our ship wrights both in new work and repairs in steam and sail vessels in large and small vessels on salt water and fresh has now fully determined the lasting qualities of this wood In 18[illegible]7 Wm Ireland planked the schooner S B Blunt with this timber She did good service on this coast for seventeen years and was a sound vessel when finally wrecked on Point Arenas In 1859 A M Simpson built the brig Cargo of this material She is still running and is perfectly sound The same may be said of the schooner Mendocino built in 1860 of the bark Monitor built in 1861 of the schooner Sarah built in 1861 in fact of all the vessels built of this wood and employed in salt water service that the surveyors of the Marine Underwriters of this port have examined during the past ten years. This timber has been used almost exclusively in the hulls of many steamers built or repaired on this coast and it has not yielded to rot even when exposed to the heat of the boilers the most trying place for any timber

When now we come to consider that this timber can be furnished in exhaustless quantities at every mill on Puget Sound on the Columbia river and at every lumber port in Oregon and Washington at $10 to $20 per thousand feet (board measure) in gold inclusive of all mill work necessary in preparing it for ship building while the Eastern ship-builder must pay from $10 to $65 for his oak and pine we begin to appreciate the advantage we possess in this great item of lumber

A comparative statement of the cost of constructing a vessel of 13 000 tons at Bath Maine and at Puget Sound shows a saving of upwards of $20 000 in the cost of the timber of such a ship in favor of Puget Sound and $30 000 compared with $35 000 is four sevenths of the whole, or $17 per ton or one fourth the price of the ship when finished unless she costs more than $68 per ton When we add to this saving the superior quality of our timber, and consequently the stronger and more durable character of the vessels built with it the contrast becomes yet more apparent and we believe that before many years capitalists will see the advantages which this part of our coast possesses in this respect.
